Evening Hats—Hair Ornaments. Butterflies and Roses—Hair-Dressing—Evening Costumes—Independent Waists—Answers to Correspondents. Special Correspondence of The Tribune. New York, Nov. 24.—Evening hats are large, small or medium-sized, and considering that they are generally taken off at theatre expense seems to be entirely forgotten. No more stylish combination exists than tulle or chiffon and fur—the crown of one and the brim of the other. Many are works of art, especially where gathered tucks of chiffon or mousseline-de-soie cover the entire hat, except a band of chinchilla around the edge of the brim or a large black hair is effectively placed among pink chiffon tucks, with a black velvet bow at the back. There is no limit to the employment of transparent materials in millinery, but from twenty to forty soft folds are laid around the crown or form a brim instead of being wound around the hat.

AN ELEGANT EVENING HAT is of chinchilla with two white ostrich tips and white egrette at the side, held by a Rhinestone buckle. Another hat has a soft, satin crown, broadened in raised velvet flowers, a chinchilla brim, and a white lace scarf with knotted silk fringe, looped at one side. A third handsome hat has a gilt crown, with pink chiffon folds extending all around and a large cluster of pink roses at one side. An unusually small hat has three clusters of white, pink and blue velvet loops, one at each side, and the highest drawn through a large Rhinestone buckle at the front. A little crown of velvet folds runs to a point at the back, where a Russian sabbie edge gives completion. A PURPLE VELVET HAT has a shirred brim, the edge left in fluting, with a chinchilla crown, two elegant ostrich feathers at one side, a silk-fringed lace knotting near the back and a Rhinestone bandeau under the brim. Fluffy furs were never before so popular on hats, and that is one reason why so few evening hats are small.

A Good Carving Set and a Plump Turkey Are two very necessary things for a Thanksgiving dinner. Of the former we carry a complete line at reasonable prices. The latter will be well taken care of in one of our Self-Basting Roasters. LACKAWANNA HARDWARE CO., 221 Lackawanna Avenue.

increase the variety, and Rhinestones set on a slender stem sparkle among any hair ornament with excellent effect. The apparent reason for the continuance of the old-fashioned pompadour roll is, that very little hair is made to look like a great deal by being rolled over large cushions, and false hair is very readily added, in small puffs or twists, at the centre of the structure, or two curls are sometimes worn at the back. VERY ELEGANT EVENING DRESSES are of panne velvet, which is but another name for satin antique, a softer and more pliable material than genuine velvet, coming in large or small bouquet patterns, Oriental designs and colorings, or in alternating plain and figured stripes. A beautiful white blonde lace dress has a panne velvet panel extending from the front breadth around the skirt, applied on the lace with a fancy design and below that is a second panel of hand-painted satin. A deep lace ruffe edges the skirt, and a chiffon sash falls gracefully over the back drapery. The lace corsage has a low, round neck, with small panne velvet puffs on short sleeves, and the front is a succession of narrow blue velvet straps, each with a Rhine stone buckle at the center. Price, $700. ALMOST ALL HANDSOME MATERIALS are available for evening dresses. Fancy or brocaded silks, crepe de Chine, figured white or colored gauzes, made over silk, these last being particularly beautiful. Independent waists of white silk embroidered in colors, or of dainty velvet with black lace insertion and guimpes to match, worn with a velvet or lace skirt, make a very handsome costume; and, descending one grade, we come to crepon skirts with fancy striped silk waists, or those of plain silk trimmed with lace and narrow fancy ribbon, usually with guimpes effects. "Mary Hamilton": For the sum you wish to expend nothing can give your friend such long-continued pleasure as some choice perfume, and I would suggest a box of Murray & Lanman's Florida Water, always refreshing and delightful. Equally appropriate is a Thanksgiving or Christmas gift. "Kittie Travers":—Sleeves of evening dresses are short, elbow length or long, consequently gloves must "follow suit." White suede is very popular, as it is in keeping with the "pastel shades" now such favorites in dress fabrics. "Bessie Hill": Beaded bronze or black patent leather slippers or Oxford ties suit almost any ordinary evening dress, and stool buckles almost as large as those of Revolutionary days are admissible. SEVERAL SUB-COMMITTEES. They Were Appointed to Arrange for the U. P. Banquet. The executive committee in charge of the banquet of the Alumni association of the University of Pennsylvania for Northampton, Pennsylvania, which is to be held in this city on Dec. 27, met yesterday afternoon in the office of the chairman, Dr. Lewis Frey. A number of sub-committees were appointed from among the members of the association and the detail work of the association will devolve on them. These committees will meet during the coming week and are expected to report within a week. The following are the committees appointed: Entertainment—Drs. Leet, Wentz and Kennedy of this city. Banquet—Dr. W. E. Keller, Dr. Wentz and Ezra H. Connell of this city. Invitations—Rev. F. S. Ballentine and Dr. Miles Gibbons of this city, and Dr. Fred Johnson, of Wilkes-Barre. Printing—George B. Davidson, Rev. F. S. Ballentine and Dr. Walter Fordham of this city. Music—Armed Wooley and Dr. W. M. Davies, of Scranton, and William Gockel, of Wilkes-Barre.

DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL. Daniel Dinahoe, of Taylor, Fell from a Bridge Over Keyser Creek. After spending half last night and the greater part of yesterday in investigation, County Detective Leyshon is convinced that the death of Daniel Dinahoe, or Donahoe, as he is commonly called, has no suspicion of foul play attaching to it. The neck was broken by falling from a bridge over Keyser creek, under the influence of drink, or such, at least, is the detective's conclusion. Dinahoe fell from a bridge crossing the Keyser creek at a height of about five feet, and in the darkness staggered backwards over the edge of the bridge, which has no guard rail or other protection. He landed on his back, and when Coroner Roberts made a post mortem examination yesterday morning it was found that his neck was broken and the five top vertebrae dislocated.

MUST PAY PER CAPITA TAX. Decision in Junior Order of United American Mechanics Matter. In the issue between the national council of the Junior Order United American Mechanics and the state council of Pennsylvania, wherein the latter refused to pay per capita tax to the national organization, the supreme judiciary of the order Thursday rendered an opinion sustaining the national council, and in the event of the refusal of the state council hereafter to pay the tax, ordered their expulsion. The trouble arose from a decision made by the state council in this city in September last, when it refused to pay the national per capita tax of 15 cents, claiming that the state council could be maintained at a 9 cents per capita rate.

MAITCH FATALLY INJURED. He Had Been Employed in Mines Only Two Days. Frank Maitch, a laborer in the Dolph mines at Peckville, while at work yesterday afternoon was struck by a large piece of coal which fell from the roof. It broke his leg and severely injured him internally. While being taken to the cars at Peckville en route to the Lackawanna hospital the man died from his injuries. He had only worked in the mines two days. He was a married man and boarded on Church street in Jessup. The Winter Term. of the Jervis-Hardenbergh School of Music and Art begins this week. Course of study in all departments arranged on broad lines according to modern progressive ideas. Faculty: MISS HARDENBERGH, MISS WORTHINGTON, PERLEE V. JERVIS, ALFRED WOOLER. Carter Building, Adams avenue and Linden street. Try a "Hotel Jermyn" cigar, 10c.

CANDIDATES FOR SEATS IN COUNCIL. TERMS OF A NUMBER OF MEMBERS EXPIRE IN SPRING. Of the Eleven Selectmen from the Odd Numbered Wards Who Will Reach the End of Their Terms in April, All but Colonel George Sanderson Will Seek a Re-Election—Nine of the Ten Retiring Commoners Will Also Ask to Be Sent Back—Candidates Who Will Oppose Them. Of the eleven selectmen from the odd numbered wards and ten commoners from the even numbered wards whose terms expire next April, all but one in each branch are avowed candidates for re-election. At the Fabrytown election and only one of these two has stated that he will not run again. This one is Colonel George Sanderson, of the Thirteenth ward, the Nestor of the upper branch and a legislator whom the city can ill afford to spare from its council halls. Prominent citizens with large property interests who placed much reliance on Colonel Sanderson and felt a re-assurance from his very presence in the council chamber are already discussing the possibility of persuading him to reconsider his determination. Andrew B. Lipton, of Dickinson avenue, and A. B. Slevius, of spoken of as candidates for the republican nomination. Commoner Monaghan, of the Twelfth ward, is the non-committal member. He feels he has had glory enough in defeating Moran Sweeney and serving one term among the city fathers. Daniel Galvin is mentioned as his successor.

THE FIRST WARD. Selectman Finley Ross, of the First ward, has served two terms and is disposed to make it three. As yet no opposition to his re-election has developed. James Kearney will try to succeed himself in the Third ward, but will have active opposition. Richard H. Williams, president, and Hon. John E. Joche, the Democratic leader of the upper branch, are finishing their third and second terms, respectively, as city fathers, but both are willing to take on the cares of the office for another term and things point toward their constituents making this demand on them. George Carson, John Lewis and John Marshall have been discussed as opponents of Mr. Williams. Mr. Carson and Mr. Marshall have both assured him, however, that they are candidates only on condition that he does not seek a re-election. They are, therefore, out of the field. Ex-Common Councilman M. P. Gilroy has announced himself as a candidate for select council from the Seventh ward. C. E. Clittenden, who is rounding out his twelfth year in the councils, four years as a commoner and eight as a member of the upper house, will seek re-election. His only opponent so far mentioned is the Hon. John E. Joche, superintendent of the Tribune's press room. No Democrat has as yet come out for the place. J. J. Schneider, who was chosen one year ago to fill the unexpired term of Edward Robinson, deceased, seeks re-election and he has heard of no opposition from either side.

LIVELY TIMES IN FIFTEENTH. The Fifteenth ward promises to develop its usual hot fight. Horatio T. Fellows, who is serving his second term, wants to be re-elected, but to secure a re-election must overcome Druggist D. M. Jones and ex-Common Councilman Joseph Oliver, who let a re-election to the lower branch go by the board last year to get in trim for the select council next year. John Wagner, Jr. has announced himself as a candidate for both common and select council from this banner Republican ward, will also be a candidate. J. A. Lansing will probably have no opposition from the Seventeenth ward. It is one of the strongest Republican wards of the city and a nomination is equivalent to an election. Edwin Frable, the Democratic member of the select from the Nineteenth ward, will seek a re-nomination and will be opposed by Thomas Gilboay. Gearhart Bresser is a candidate for the Republican nomination. In the Twenty-first ward, John J. McAndrews, who was elected as an independent, will in all probability seek a re-nomination and election at the hands of the Democrats of the ward. Henry J. Hines has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination. In the common council the terms of a number of the most prominent members expire. They will make a determined effort to return. Morris V. Morris is a candidate to succeed himself in the second ward and the other candidates for the Republican nomination are Simon James and James Powell. Thus far the Democratic aspirants have been a little shy about coming forward.

THE FOURTH WARD. In the Fourth ward, W. V. Griffith, the present efficient member, and William Parry will contest for the Republican nomination. F. P. Calpin is again a candidate for the Republican nomination in the Sixth ward. Up to date there is no Republican candidate. The Eighth ward Republicans have already renominated F. W. Zieseman, and Thomas Roche and Thomas Gilgallon are seeking the Democratic nomination. John Nageli wants to succeed himself in the Tenth ward, and up to date he is the only one whose name has been mentioned. The same condition prevails in the Fourteenth ward, where C. E. Wenzel wants to be his own successor. Edward J. Coleman will ask the Democrats of the Sixteenth ward to renominate him and Joseph Danner will be a candidate for the Republican nomination. T. F. Morris, member from the Eighteenth, and John Moran will struggle for the Democratic nomination in that ward. Edward Williams will seek the Republican nomination. M. J. Cusick will try to succeed himself from the Twentieth ward. He is a Democrat.

POLITICAL NOTES. Alderman A. C. Bailey, the veteran magistrate of the Thirteenth ward, will be a candidate for re-election in February. Alderman Moses, of the Fifteenth ward, will go before the Republican voters of that ward as a candidate for a re-nomination. This evening the Republican candidates for nomination in the Fifth ward will meet in Henno's hotel, on North Main avenue, to decide upon a time for a caucus. SUPPER AT SECOND CHURCH. The Ladies Who Assisted in the Serving. A bountiful turkey supper was served last night at the Second Presbyterian church by the order of ladies under the direction of Mrs. E. M. Tewkesberry. DID NOT POISON HER CHILD. Bessie Keenan's Daughter Died from Natural Causes. Yesterday morning Coroner Roberts went to Winton and investigated the cause of the death of Bessie Keenan's little daughter. The story was told by Mrs. Walter Cairns, of Winton, that the child had been poisoned by its mother. This proved to be false. About six months ago the girl became the mother of the child and accused Mrs. Cairns of being its father. The young man left the town and returned a few days ago, and it was then stated that he is married to another woman. Bessie Keenan had him arrested last Wednesday and he was given a hearing and then lodged in the county jail. Mrs. Cairns came to town and informed Coroner Roberts that the child was dead, and said she could bring two witnesses who would testify that laudanum had been given the baby by its mother. Yesterday the coroner investigated and found out that the child's death was due to meningitis produced by an attack of whooping cough, the latter sickness being very prevalent among the children in the district. There were no traces of poisoning.

TOOK TOO MUCH MORPHINE. Harry E. Worell Had a Narrow Escape from Death. Harry E. Worell, a cigarmaker, who boards in the 5th block of Lackawanna avenue, was taken to the Lackawanna hospital yesterday, suffering from an overdose of morphine. About 12 o'clock yesterday he entered the drug store of Barber & Townsend, at Spruce street and Franklin avenue. He was in a crazed condition, and the Lackawanna hospital ambulance was summoned and Worell was taken to that institution. When he reached the hospital he was unconscious, but by resorting to heroic measures he gradually came to his senses. It is supposed that Worell is in the habit of taking morphine, but on this occasion he was taken to the hospital by a loss. Eight or nine grains were taken by him. Worell is a man of about thirty-nine and a widower with one daughter. He will probably recover in a few days.

RADICK'S FRIGHTFUL INJURIES. The Victim of a Fall of Roof in Mount Pleasant Mine. John Radick, a miner at the Mount Pleasant mines, while at work yesterday morning was terribly injured by a fall of roof. He was taken to the Lackawanna hospital where it was ascertained that he was suffering from concussion of the brain, a broken back, and a fracture of the nose. His face was also badly cut. When brought in he was in convulsions and continued in that state for some time. He is a Russian and a single man. His recovery is not expected.

PELOZI CAPTURED IN FAR OFF ITALY IS UNDER ARREST AWAITING EXTRADITION PAPERS. Alleged Murderer of Antonio Spinello Is Located Through the Efforts of County Detective Leyshon and Will Be Brought Here to Answer for First Degree Murder—Taken Into Custody as He Was Disembarking at Naples—Interesting Account of the Incidents. Word was received in this city yesterday that Angello Pelozo, who is believed by the county authorities to be the murderer of Antonio Spinello, at Moosic, had been taken prisoner as he was disembarking from the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II at Naples, Italy, on Thursday. Spinello, it will be remembered, was shot about 7 o'clock on the evening of Oct. 23 last, on the road leading from Moosic to Old Forge. The murdered man had boarded with Pelozo and it is generally believed that he became enamored with the latter's wife, thus causing Pelozo to become jealous. The shooting was witnessed by James Passero, another boarder, who was walking along the road with the other two men. He says that the two men quarreled and that Pelozo fired five shots at Spinello, two of them taking effect. The murderer then ran down the road and disappeared and all efforts to locate him proved fruitless. It was finally learned that he had embarked for Italy and the authorities at Naples were notified to detain him.

CAN BE BROUGHT BACK. There is no question but that the fugitive can and will be brought back to this country for trial. County Detective Leyshon satisfied himself on this point at the outset of the case, when he received a strong intimation that Pelozo would try to get to Italy. The treaty between this country and Italy provides that if the accused has been naturalized here he can be extradited; otherwise he is to be tried there, as was the case in the accomplices of "Red Nose Mike." Pelozo was naturalized in the Lackawanna county courts in 1894. The extradition papers are being prepared and will be presented to the governor for transmission to the secretary of state at once. In all probability County Detective Leyshon, who is personally acquainted with the accused murderer through his connection with the Merolo case, will go to Italy to identify him and bring him back. An Italian detective whom Mr. Leyshon had assisting him in the case brought information that corroborated a tip the county detective received that Pelozo would go to Italy, where he believed he would be safe, and whence his friends in Old Forge believed he could not be extradited. The county detective went to Hoboken at once and posted the detectives there to watch the out-going steamships for the fugitive.

WATCHED THE GANGLANK. On the Saturday following the murder, when a big liner was to leave for Italian ports, Mr. Leyshon, with three detectives and three officers assigned him by the chief of the Hoboken detective force, watched the gang plank while 900 Italians were embarking. Each of the officers had a photograph of Pelozo, as did also the company's ticket agent at the wharf. Several men resembling Pelozo were spotted, but they proved to be some one else. When County Detective Leyshon was leaving the wharf he accidentally encountered Lawrence Semenza, an Old Forge police officer, who had offered to help the county detective find Pelozo. Mr. Leyshon was somewhat dubious as to Semenza's sincerity and thought to test him. He was asked what brought him there, where he had been and whether he was going. He said at first he came down Thursday, but later admitted he arrived on Thursday. He, of course, said he was in pursuit of Pelozo. Semenza was allowed and the reports brought to Mr. Leyshon proved, as he suspected, that Semenza was playing him false, and that instead of being in pursuit of Pelozo he was laying himself open to suspicion, that his false statements and known friendships with the accused murderer would give rise to.

Being confirmed in the belief that Pelozo was in the neighborhood of New York and that he would go aboard an Italian boat, the county detective made the rounds of the steamboat companies conducting trips to Italy and posted them to watch for the fugitive, generously distributing photographs and printed descriptions. THOUGHT IT WAS PELOZI. On Nov. 11, just as the Kaiser Wilhelm II had passed down the bay the ticket agent at the wharf, happening to meet Detective Louis S. Weintal, who was permanently assigned on the case to help Mr. Leyshon, informed him that he had stamped a ticket of a man named Pelozo, who, it now occurred to him, answered the description of the Italian whom he had been inquiring about. Detective Weintal was much chagrined that his prey had escaped through such thoughtlessness, but as Pelozo was located and his description known and unvariable, he was content. County Detective Leyshon, upon being informed of the facts by District Attorney John R. Jones, made requisition through the state department for his detention upon the arrival of the ship at Naples, where it was yesterday due to make its first stop. Yesterday afternoon County Detective
